Council tax frozen for fifth year

THERE will be no council tax increase for residents of the Royal Borough of Greenwich – for the fifth year running.

The news comes against a backdrop of budget tightening, and cuts in funding from central government. The decision was made at a meeting of the full council last Wednesday (February 29).

The royal borough has seen a total of eight council tax freezes in the last 14 years. And since 1998, it has increased council tax by only 27 per cent – the third lowest borough in London, and the eighth lowest nationally.

Clr Chris Roberts, leader of the royal borough, said: "We have frozen council tax rates once again this year, and consequently this rate has now been at the same level for the last five years. It is a record which I am extremely proud of.

"I know it would be wrong to ask residents to contribute more towards local services at a time when many people are finding it hard to meet the ever-increasing costs of living and the extra VAT which faces every one of us. We understand that for struggling families it is about money in their pockets, not just about our achievements.

"We've worked hard to maintain frontline services despite facing £63.5 million worth of cutbacks. We are also delivering an Olympic legacy, town centre improvements and putting £5 million into social services."

Banners for Thamesmead?

I WANTED to say congratulations to the new royal borough councillors and say how wonderful all the celebrations were over the weekend. I read the Greenwich Time article explaining how Greenwich has developed over the years as it amalgamated with Woolwich, etc (GT, February 7) What a great opportunity missed! Once again there is no mention of Thamesmead in the article. We are all trying to make Thamesmead a better place to be so it would be great to benefit from being part of this exciting phase of history. I also noticed banners in Woolwich Centre advertising the change and thought how great it would be to see these in Thamesmead too? A sense of pride for the area. Not sure if this is something that can be considered but just a thought!

Liz Simpson, Thamesmead

The royal dressing banners have proved very popular in parts of the borough where they have been installed. We have a phase two installation that will include some Royal Greenwich banners in Thamesmead.

Humbled and proud by the care I got at the QEH

I HAD an excellent experience at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital a few weeks ago. I was waiting for a routine X-ray one Saturday morning when I suddenly became over weak and dizzy, in a sweat and with chest pains. Without me calling anyone, an orderly spotted me in a bit of a state, whisked me into a wheelchair and took me into A&E. Immediately I was looked after by a doctor and nurse who put me onto a heart monitor and took various blood and other tests. I felt better after a couple of hours but the doctor insisted, as a precaution, I go onto a ward for observation and have further tests 10 hours

Why use primary school for polling station?

SO where did the idea of using a primary school, Halstow School to be specific, for a ballot station come from? Closing for the day means parents having to make arrangements for childcare at cost, or having to take unpaid leave off work. Why not approach another community centre not in use on a weekday, perhaps East Greenwich library would have been used, or else have flexible opening times, before and after school.

Rahman Chowdhury, Greenwich

● Polling hours are set in election law and there is no provision for polling stations opening up for parts of a polling day. Halstow School is centrally located and later. I was subsequently discharged about 8pm with an all clear. The diagnosis was that I'd had a sudden and dramatic fall in blood pressure. I've been fine since. Every member of staff at every level that I encountered that day was fantastic - kind, caring, professional, the epitome of what you'd hope for from the NHS. I was both humbled and very proud to receive such care. A big 'thank you' to everyone there that helped me.

Chris Brown, Eltham

is fully accessible. The royal borough reviewed polling arrangements last year, and no representations were made in our consultation. East Greenwich library has been suggested as a polling place, but it was not considered suitable because of the relatively cramped space which would make it difficult to adapt for polling.

Be first in the queue for pre-Olympic events

TICKETS to pre-Olympic sporting events are available to residents before they go on sale to the public as part of an offer for 2012 Host Boroughs.

It means residents in the Royal Borough of Greenwich have a chance to buy tickets to five world class sporting events 48 hours before everyone else.

The tickets are being offered through LOCOG as it arranges the final test events before the Games in July.

The test events are part of the London Prepares series which allows LOCOG to test key aspects of operations at each venue such as the scoring and timing systems.

As a Host Borough, residents will be among the first in the queue to buy tickets for five sporting events between April 18 and May 8. The events featuring Olympic qualifying rounds and top athletes from around the world, include:

- The FINA Olympic Games Synchronised Swimming Qualification, at the Aquatics Centre in the Olympic Park from April 18-22.

- The Visa International Invitational Hockey Tournament at the Riverbank Arena in the Olympic Park from May 2-6.

- The Visa Water Polo International at the Water Polo Arena in the Olympic Park from May 3-6.

from 9am on March 13 to 9am on March 15. Full price tickets range from £5-20 and special price tickets for under 16 and over 60s range from £3-15.

- Locals can purchase tickets by visiting Ticketmaster at www.ticketmaster.co.uk/londonprepares and entering the code GREENWICHPREPARES into the 'Host Borough pre-sale' boxes for either adult or concession tickets.

On your marks for 2012 jobs

New roles created for Games

THE Royal Borough of Greenwich is offering hundreds of temporary council jobs to local people.

The vacancies are being created as a result of the royal borough hosting the Olympic and Paralympic Games and are only available to residents.

The royal borough needs to look its best when it hosts equestrian, archery, shooting and modern pentathlon events this summer – and recruiting is taking place now for people such as street cleaners and wardens, refuse collectors, caretakers, grounds maintenance staff and traffic attendants.

Greenwich Local Labour and Business (GLLaB), the royal borough's employment and training service, is running a jobs information day called Get Set Greenwich 2012, when people can find out more about what's on offer. It will be next Wednesday (March 14) at Woolwich Public Hall behind the Town Hall entrance in Market Street. Just come along between 1.30pm and 5.30pm.

People who can't make a visit can get more details from GLLaB on 020 8921 2440.

There are other jobs available during the Games in customer service, retail, catering and hospitality, security and warehousing with LOCOG through GLLaB. Job application sessions are being held by GLLaB at the Old Library in Calderwood Street, Woolwich, on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, at Clockhouse Community Centre in Defiance Walk, Woolwich Dockyard on Wednesdays and Thursdays, and at ARC, 34-36 Grovebury Road, Abbey Wood, on Mondays and Fridays.

All sessions begin at 9.30am, and finish at 11.30am for Clockhouse and ARC, and at 12.30 for GLLaB at the Old Library. People should take along their CV, some ID (passport or driving licence) and contact details for two referees.

Cllr Denise Hyland, the royal borough's cabinet member for regeneration, enterprise and skills, said: "The royal borough has always promised that the Olympics would bring benefits for residents and being a host borough provides a range of unique opportunities. Because we are a host borough, we will need extra manpower to keep the borough looking its best throughout the Games. This is a good opportunity for local people to get some paid work and experience and to say they have played a vital part in the Olympic effort."

ROYAL borough of
GREENWICH

FOUR years ago Zoe Smith gave her first-ever interview - to Greenwich Time, of course. Now she's on the brink of competing for Team GB in the 2012 London Olympic Games and tells PETER CORDWELL how it's all been going...

Zoe far so good

THE little girl who went to the school at the bottom of her garden is now the young woman on the verge of competing at the Olympic Games in her own backyard.

Abbey Wood's Zoe Smith won't be 18 until the end of April, but already has a Commonwealth Games weightlifting medal to tell her grandchildren about.

But this is the biggy - and she seems remarkably calm.

"I'm just training loads at the moment for the Europeans in Turkey in April," she told GT. "That'll be nice, but it's not going to happen without a lot of hard work.

"I want to do some PBs [personal bests] and get qualified because then I'll be definitely going."

Team GB's weightlifting team is made up of four men and two women. There is some competition for Zoe's place, but they say the same about Lionel Messi at Barcelona. If she's fit she'll be there - and we'll be rooting for her like mad.

"I'm quite excited but obviously very nervous," she said. "It's coming round much quicker than I thought it would."

It's incredible to think that a girl who might still be at school is the top female weightlifter in Britain, even after her multi-record-breaking, medal-hauling time as a junior, including a Commonwealth Youth Games gold.

Zoe - also a silver medal winner at the World Youth Championships last May - is back in Greenwich after six months training with the GB squad in Leeds. An early injury - "a disc bulge in my back, I could hardly walk" - seemed to put the mockers on the move, and she is happiest with her own coach at the Europa club in Erith, Andy Callard.

"It was not a good time for me in Leeds - it was too intense. I missed home and my coach," Zoe said. "I love training with Andy. He's a great coach who has coached me since I was 12 and got me as far as this. I'm really enjoying it and making the progress I want to. We're hoping to get Andy as an assistant coach at the Olympics and he would be great for everyone...especially me!"

But Zoe has found it hard to achieve her qualifying weight of 58kg.

"I've got one of those bodies that doesn't like to lose weight," she said. "When I'm on the diet I do it strictly. It's getting used to it that's the problem because it's so boring."

All the media attention, including lots of television, has put Zoe on the path to professionalism, including having an agent since the Commonwealth Games.

"I've developed more confidence since Greenwich Time did that first interview four years ago as I've done media and TV work," she said. "Apparently, once you've earned over £1m in a year it makes you a professional sports person, but I still think of myself as the same person who started out at weightlifting. I suppose if I'm good at what I do I should reap the benefits."

People in the street now tend to give her the looks they save for celebrities, and as we took pictures near the shops in Abbey

Wood, she was asked for her autograph by passers-by who are so proud of her.

"I tend to keep my head down," said Zoe. "But even at Charing Cross I was asked: 'Are you the weight-lifter girl?' It's quite nice because people generally don't have bad things to say." It's not all glitz and glamour, though. "I've put school on hold until after the Games because I've got a fair amount of stress to deal with already. When I was injured and unhappy I did wonder why I was doing it, but that's the same for all athletes."

LOCAL HEROINE: Olympic hopeful Zoe Smith takes the weight off, and top, young supporters in Abbey Wood raise cheer for their very own local star

Zoe came 12th in the world championships in Paris - Disneyland, in fact - in December, a great result for someone so young and the spur, with yet more PBs, to even greater things, like a world top ten place.

"After the Olympics I'll take things as they come, including thinking of Rio in 2016. I'll also have a couple of weeks away for a rest!"

Greenwich Starting Blocks has supported Zoe since she first exploded onto the scene at 13. "They've been really great," she said. "They don't give me a bursary now because I'm earning but they paid for my mum to watch me at the World Championships. I'm proud to represent Greenwich. I was born in Greenwich Hospital and went to De Lucy primary school at the bottom of my garden."

What's great is that she's the same smashing girl she's always been, and we'll all be rooting for her.

FREE ELECTRIC BLANKET TESTING

Royal Greenwich Trading Standards in partnership with the London Fire Brigade are offering free electric blanket testing to borough residents on Friday 30th March 2012.

The free electric blanket testing will be on Friday 30th March at the library in The Woolwich Centre, 35 Wellington Street, London SE18 6HQ by appointment only.

To book an appointment call 020 8921 8223

About half of all fires in the home involve electrical equipment which is either faulty or not used safely. Most people escape from these fires uninjured, especially if they have a working smoke alarm, but deaths and burn injuries still occur every year. These are all the more regrettable when they are preventable and in the case of electric blankets, much can be done to ensure you keep warm and safe this winter.

Safety Tips

- Electric blankets should carry the British Standard Kitemark (BSK) and the British Electrotechnical Approvals Board (BEAB) symbol on them.
- Don't fold electric blankets. Protect the wiring inside them by storing them flat or rolled up.
- Don't leave an electric blanket switched on all night, unless it has controls for safe all night use.
- Check whether it is an under or over blanket and use it only for that purpose.
- Use the ties on an under-blanket to secure it to the mattress. This prevents slipping and creasing which could damage the elements.
- Have your electric blanket tested every three years.
- Get a new electric blanket at least every 10 years.

For other safety information about electrical equipment go to www.London-Fire.gov.uk

If a blanket is found to be unsafe and beyond repair, discount vouchers towards a new replacement will be offered.

If you require your electric blanket to be collected by us for testing and delivered back to you, then please mention this when you book your appointment.

GRACE LIPSKI REPORTS ON A QUEST TO MARK

WHO lived in a house like this?

Murder mystery fan David Mason got involved in a thriller all of his own when he discovered his favourite author was born just streets away from his Charlton home.

Eric Ambler, OBE, was a prolific novelist who was born in Wellington Gardens, SE7. Now David has made it his mission to get a blue plaque raised in his honour.

Ambler was born in 1909, and had more than 20 thrillers published before his death in 1998.

His gritty political style made him a global success - he sold millions of books, wrote scripts and adaptations, and was even nominated for two BAFTAs in 1954.

David told GT: "I've always loved thrillers. I was amazed when I discovered Eric was a working-class lad from Charlton.

"He paved the way for many modern day writers like John le Carre, Graham Green, Len Deighton and Robert Harris, and with all the contributions he's made to English literature, it's only fitting that he should get a blue plaque erected in his name."

David hopes that if his dream is realised, the plaque may even inspire a new generation.

He said: "It will be brilliant for budding writers in the area to know that one of our great novelists was born and grew up in the borough.

"His followers include Green and le Carre, who have all gone on record to say that Ambler is the best in the genre. Being an OBE he is one short of a knighthood, and made a monumental impact on the genre in the 1930s and beyond."

Unlike some of his followers' characters - including Ian Fleming's James Bond who was from a rich background - Ambler's characters were people readers could relate to. "His protagonists are real human, intellectual characters not devoid from the reader," David said.

"They aren't spies, policeman or counter-intelligence." Ambler also wrote for film, and had been linked to iconic director Alfred Hitchcock. He was nominated for an Academy Award in 1953 for his work on the film The Cruel Sea. Many of his works have been made into films, including Mask of Dimitrios (1944) and Light of Day (1962), which was parodied in The Pink Panther in 1963.

With all of these accolades, David reckons Eric is well overdue a plaque in the royal borough. But he needs YOUR help to make it happen.

He said: "I need as many people as possible to join this cause so we can celebrate his works and see this plaque erected."

Stay Warm Stay Safe this winter in Royal Greenwich

Worried you won't be able to keep warm this winter?

Maybe you know someone who you think might find it hard to cope when the weather gets cold?

This winter Royal Borough of Greenwich is providing extra services and personal support for any of our residents who may be at risk during the cold weather. Cold homes can cause health conditions to get worse, for example in people with heart problems or breathing (respiratory) problems. Icy conditions outside can make falls more likely especially amongst people who may be frail or unsteady when walking.

Using extra funding provided by the Department of Health, the Royal Borough of Greenwich will be working with GPs, the voluntary sector, social workers and the companies who provide social care to identify anyone who may be vulnerable during the cold weather and make sure they get help if they need it.

This help could include a visit from a care worker to make sure the person is keeping warm at home and to organise help if cold weather means they cannot get out to the shops, or attend an appointment at the hospital or GP, for example. They can also help put people in touch the Royal Borough of Greenwich's Handyperson Service, or Welfare Rights Service who can make sure that people receive all of the benefits that they are entitled to.

The Royal Borough of Greenwich's increased Winter Handyperson Service will include:

- ✓ Checking and setting central heating programmers
- ✓ Bleeding and balancing radiators
- ✓ Installing a thermostatic radiator valve in main room
- ✓ Installing draught proofing
- ✓ Installing a hot water tank jacket
- ✓ Checking the level of insulation in the loft
- ✓ A free handyperson fleecy blanket and room thermometer
- ✓ A benefit check by the Royal Borough of Greenwich's Welfare Rights Service
- ✓ Other small jobs around the home to help you stay warm and safe

MORE activities for young people are in the pipeline following the news that Charlton Athletic Community Trust (CACT) is to run youth services on behalf of the Royal Borough of Greenwich.

While many boroughs are cutting back services, the royal borough's decision means good news for young people locally. The pioneering partnership will see CACT - which already has a strong track record of delivering sport, mentoring and other activities for young people - working with a range of organisations to bring expertise and local knowledge into the youth service.

A new activity programme is due to kick off across the borough next month, with free taster sessions for young people from March 19-22. These will take place at four youth hubs across the borough on:

- Monday, March 19 - Hawksmoor Youth Hub, Bentham Road, Thamesmead, SE28 8AS
- Tuesday, March 20 -

New deal for young people

Woolwich Common Youth Hub, Block two, Nightingale Place, Woolwich Common Estate, SE18 4HX

- Wednesday, March 21 - Valley Central Youth Hub, The Valley, Floyd Road, Charlton, SE7 8BL
- Thursday, March 22 - Avery Hill Youth Hub, Anstridge Road, Eltham, SE9 2LL

All sessions are from 6pm-8pm and also offer a chance for young people to suggest activities they would like to see available.

The news has been welcomed by young people locally. Freya Miller, 17, chair of Greenwich Young People's Council, said:

"One of the things I particularly like is the variety of activities on offer and a chance for everyone to do something that they are genuinely interested in."

Pounding the streets for Freddie

ROYAL Greenwich Mayor Jim Gillman will join Paralympic gold medallist Danny Crates in 'Pounding the Streets' for Freddie Farmer from Sainsbury's Eltham on Sunday, March 11, at 10.30am.

Along with store staff and supporters - with seven-year-old Freddie in his wheelchair - they will walk the 2.8 miles to Sainsbury's Chislehurst for the Freddie Farmer Foundation.

Jim will walk with Mayoress Janet Gillman, who told GT: "We should be able to make it. We walk the dog ever so much, and it's such a good cause that's captured the local imagination."

The foundation, chosen as Sainsbury's Eltham's local charity for a year, has raised over £50,000 to date. Other fund-raising efforts for the registered charity have included runs, swims, cake making, curry nights, climbing mountains and a 12,000ft skydive by Freddie's mum, Deanne Farmer.

Deanne said: "It will be a real challenge for Freddie but he is determined to make it all the way. He has limited movement in his upper body but wants to go the whole way." Freddie told GT: "I want to complete the whole distance in my electric wheelchair. I'm sure I will make the finishing line. My brother Oliver is a good runner and will try and run the whole distance as fast as he can."

Wendy Howard, human resources manager at Sainsbury's Eltham, said: "We are very excited about supporting Freddie. The charity year is going very well, raising over £3,000 for the charity, and has a wonderful community feel to it. Colleagues will be bringing their families along so it should be brilliant day."

As officials partners of the 2012 Paralympics, Sainsbury's were delighted to get Danny Crates to make the walk with Freddie.

In 2003 he took the world indoor 800m title and the European 800m indoor titles. The following year Danny set a new world outdoor record and won the gold medal at the Paralympics in Athens.

The Freddie Farmer Foundation was formed in 2011 to raise funds to set up a specialised physiotherapy centre in South-East London for children and young people with cerebral palsy and serious mobility problems. Freddie himself was born at 28 weeks with cerebral palsy, weighing just 2lb 12oz. If you wish to sponsor Freddie, please donate on www.bmycharity.com/charities/freddiefarmer

Five legacy trees for Horn Park

Park friends out in force for planting programme

by Peter Cordwell

FRIENDS of Horn Park in Lee turned out in force to welcome five new trees as part of the council's 2012 planting programme across the royal borough to celebrate the London 2012 Olympics and the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

Regular planters the royal borough Mayor Jim Gillman and cabinet member for culture and the Olympics John Fahy got stuck in usual style, joined by dog walkers and pupils from Horn Park primary school.

"It's good to see a great cross section of people who love the park represented this morning," said Cllr Fahy. "This is what our parks are all about, wonderful places for residents to enjoy in the ways they choose."

Friends committee member Bob King told GT: "This is a lovely park and it's nice to see more trees being planted. A week ago we had 100-odd saplings planted for the Woodland Trust. Our big event this year will be the Parkfest on July 14 and it will be lovely to see how all the trees progress by then."

The five trees this time were all Alnus Cordata, the Alder, which are particularly suitable to wetlands and the area near the park's Winn Road gate.

Ten-year-old Ronnie, a Year 5 pupil from Horn Park school, helped the planting with rare relish but still had the energy to tell GT: "We haven't actually had a lesson on trees but I do know they give us oxygen which is very important for breathing."

Olivia, aged eight, added: "Trees are really fun. You can climb on them, play hide and seek and it's really good when you see them in the spring and the summer."

Learning mentor Clare McIntosh added: "I've been at the school for three and a half years and it's been really good. It's lovely to have a park so near and the trees make it look so much more beautiful."

First citizen Jim Gillman told GT: "I think we're somewhere near the three-quarter mark and it really has been an enjoyable and uplifting experience. There's something special and timeless about a tree."

BREAKING NEW GROUND: Mayor Jim Gillman and Cllr John Fahy join Horn Park Friends and pupils from nearby Horn Park School for Tuesday's planting

Brand new moves for council tenants

Special report goes to more than 24,000 homes

by Dick Townsend-
Smith

A SPECIAL report from the Royal Borough of Greenwich has revealed what the future holds for council tenants.

The plans include 46 new family homes to tackle serious overcrowding, seven new bungalows for older or disabled people, and 250 extra care properties to replace some of the existing sheltered blocks.

The royal borough also intends to replace all communal TV aerials with digital systems before the April switchover, and make a £500,000 investment in entry systems to keep estates safer.

The plans are revealed in this year's Annual Report to Tenants, which has just gone out to more than 24,000 homes.

It explains how the royal borough has met its commitment to improve the quality of services for tenants over the last 12 months.

These include the new Woolwich Centre and Library, efficiency savings totalling £3.7 million, and work that is progressing at Kidbrooke Village, formerly the Ferrier Estate, where 1,525 affordable homes will be built.

Clr Steve Offord, royal borough cabinet member for housing, told GT: "There have been many achievements to celebrate over the past year and I would like to thank tenant organisations for helping to develop our housing services."

"We will continue to meet regularly with the housing panels to gain feedback from tenants and residents to help deliver good services." But he added: "We will come down hard on any tenants who continue to ignore the terms of their tenancy and make life miserable for their neighbours, and we will continue to prioritise reducing rent arrears and set up a dedicated team to tackle illegal sub-letting."

"We will provide incentives to encourage downsizing rather than force under-occupiers to move out of their homes, and we will retain lifetime tenancies and not use government discretion to reduce security of tenure or introduce flexible tenancies for new or existing tenants." Clr Offord said the royal borough would continue working with housing associations and other partners to increase the number of affordable homes to rent.

Tenants on the borough-wide housing panel have agreed a deal with the royal borough for six key areas for improvement, covering tenant involvement, the quality of housing repairs and maintenance, housing allocations, effective use of resources, tackling anti-social behaviour and estate cleanliness. More than 200 tenants are helping to shape services by getting involved with meetings, estate walkabouts, focus groups, tenants and residents associations, as well as the nine housing panels.

If you want to get involved in your area or want to give feedback on the report, contact the Community Participation Team on 020-8921 5582 or email community-participation@greenwich.gov.uk

Excellence award for Willow Dene

READY, set, move! Plumstead's Willow Dene school has been awarded the MOVE centre of excellence status, writes Grace Lipski.

The accolade was given for excellent practice in improving the mobility skills of children with special educational needs. The MOVE programme (Movement Opportunities Via Education) allows children with physical disabilities or complex needs to improve their skills in independent sitting, standing, walking and moving around. The school in Swingate Lane has been part of a borough-wide provision for pupils with special educational needs since 2001. It started the MOVE programme as a pilot project five years ago and it's grown and developed since then. Assessors were so impressed by the leadership of the MOVE programme and the way its principles permeated every aspect of school life, they awarded MOVE accreditation last month.

Willow Dene's MOVE co-ordinator Lin Wright, said: "We have 31 children in our school on the MOVE programme. They have responded well to it and we are proud of the status that's been given to us. However, we are most proud of our amazing children and the hard work and determination they've shown while being involved with the programme. Not forgetting the dedicated and skilled staff team we have here also." Willow Dene's deputy head Rachel Harrison, said: "We have worked with other professionals such as our nursery team, physiotherapists, Greenwich sensory Service and respite centres. We have excellent relationships and communication with the families and carers of the children at our school. This all contributes to the success of the MOVE strategy."

She added: "All of the children on the programme have their own profile which is reviewed regularly. In every Key Stage the evidence of children sitting, standing, moving or transferring independently is apparent. The children have become more able with their motor skills, using prompts and special equipment and learning new skills."

Winning the war

A pioneering police unit set up with funding from the Royal Borough of Greenwich has contributed to a notable decline in crime rates since it was set up five years ago. HILARY BRYAN discovers how the Violent and Organised Crime Unit is helping to make the borough one of the safest in London...

THE Violent and Organised Crime Unit (VOCU) has made a major contribution to reducing crime in the Royal Borough of Greenwich by 7.5% in the last year.

The pioneering police unit means that there have been around 1500 fewer victims of crime in the borough over the last year.

The pioneering police unit, funded with £1.35m from the royal borough, was set up by the police in September 2008 to target violent and organised crime.

The recent fall in crime follows a series of successful operations. It means that Greenwich is one of the best performing boroughs in London with significant reductions in personal robbery and serious youth violence.

The VOCU's focus over the last ten months has been on serious youth violence, the most serious violent offences, knife and gun crime, mugging and drug dealing.

This has resulted in 86 offenders being charged with 21 offenders found guilty. During the same period VOCU officers seized 31 knives, 20 weapons including two firearms, and more than £64,300 in cash. There were also 39 seizures of class A drugs and 37 of class B drugs.

There have been a series of special VOCU operations over the last year which targeted drug gangs and youth crime.

Forty people were jailed for a total of 95 years as a result of Operation Trazer last March. The raids involved more than 1,000 police officers and followed 18 months of undercover policing by VOCU officers. The operation designed to crack down on the supply of class A and B drugs in the borough is believed to have smashed six criminal networks also involved in money laundering, possession of counterfeit money, burglary, handling stolen goods and theft-related crimes.

The VOCU also made a concerted effort to tackle youth violence and gang crime reducing incidents of serious youth crime by 23 per cent. Operation Longtooth was launched to keep track of ten violent young offenders resulting in 37 arrests.

The unit was also responsible for other successes as a result of its proactive work including the deportation of two violent and dangerous offenders who were found to be immigration overstayers; and the recovery of council homes which were being used as drug dens.

Borough commander Richard Wood said: "I am really pleased with the results of investigations conducted by the VOCU. We will continue with our total war on crime to ensure that we reduce crime and violence, particularly amongst young people."

Cllr Maureen O'Mara the royal borough's cabinet member for community safety, said: "The royal borough works very closely with the police - and other partners - to make Greenwich a safe place to live, work and visit. The VOCU has been made possible by funding provided by the royal borough and the unit team has worked tirelessly over the last year apprehending prominent drug dealers and tackling violent offenders of all ages.

"Their skill and professionalism has helped to bring these people to justice and sends out a strong message to those involved in violence and organised crime. I am glad to confirm that the VOCU will continue to operate during 2012/13."

Partnership work nets unlicensed operators

DOZENS of shops, pubs and clubs were visited by police in a crackdown on unlicensed premises last week.

The inspections were part of Operation Condor, a 48-hour operation across London, focusing on licensing issues affecting businesses across the capital. Police officers were joined by trading standards officers from the Royal Borough of Greenwich and inspectors from Transport for London for the exercise over the weekend of February 24-26. They targeted all kinds of premises requiring a licence including pubs and clubs, mini cab offices, betting shops, gambling establishments as well as investigating driving licence fraud, the procurement of second-hand goods, benefit fraud, and the sale of alcohol, cigarettes, and knives to minors.

Officers conducted 21 test purchase operations - two shops sold alcohol and knives to the under cover police cadets, who are all under 18 years of age. This resulted in fines and further action to be taken by the local authority.

A total of 21 premises comprising betting shops and pawnbrokers were also checked across Woolwich, Greenwich and Eltham. Four people were arrested for immigration matters, after visits to local nail bars in Woolwich and Plumstead.

Officers visited 145 licensed premises where they checked the licences of security staff and identified four licence breaches. Officers also checked car number plates resulting in one arrest for possession of drugs and cannabis. Around 700 crime prevention advice leaflets were distributed by officers from the Safer Transport team who stopped 10 minicabs - as a result three arrests were made for taxi touting.

Chief Inspector Peter Turner, in charge of the operation across the Royal Borough of Greenwich said: "We were really busy throughout the weekend. I am really pleased with the result of the operation - we will continue to work closely with other agencies to ensure that everyone follows licensing laws correctly".

Cllr Maureen O' Mara the royal borough's cabinet member for community safety said: "This operation is yet another excellent example of partnership work between the police and the royal borough. Licensing laws are there to ensure the safety of the public and enforcement exercises like this play an important role in reducing crime, those who are operating illegally.

The resulting arrests and legal action is a clear sign that we will not tolerate those who are operating illegally in our communities."

- If you would like to report any unlicensed activity in your area, please call police on 101 with more information or alternatively call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800-555-111.

Call from the back-up force

NEIGHBOURHOOD Watch coordinators are appealing for residents to join the association and help make the royal borough a safer place.

The Greenwich Borough Neighbourhood Watch Association (GBNWA) operates across the whole borough and has links with neighbouring boroughs. Members are calling for more people to set up schemes in their local communities. Association members recently held a networking meeting where coordinators had a chance to meet up with representatives from other community organisations including the Royal Borough of Greenwich.

Borough Police Commander Richard Wood presented the association with a cheque for £1,000 from the MPS Property Act Fund. He said: "Neighbourhood Watch represents a great opportunity to get involved and ensure that residents, police and council work together to resolve matters that are important to the local community. I thoroughly support the work done by the many co-ordinators we have across the borough and will continue to support them as much as I can."

Jenny Penn, GBNWA vice chair, added: "Neighbourhood Watch plays an important role in helping to provide safer, secure and pleasant communities. If you're not already in one of the 200 registered schemes or want to set one up, please get in touch with either the association or your local Safer Neighbourhoods Police Team - we're here to help."

Greenwich Theatre's new live music night goes down a storm

Great Set-up

WONDERBOY: Luke Jackson had the crowd in the palm of his hand

IF Simon Cowell had been there he would have shot the lights and kidnapped the kid on stage. And if Luke Jackson doesn't become a star then my name isn't Albert Grossman.

The kid – and all of his 17 years – will be remembered as the very first act to play at The Set, the monthly acoustic music extravaganza (free nuts) which started at Greenwich Theatre on Sunday, February 26.

Luke had the audience in the palm of his hands from the off and didn't let go until the last of his seven songs, six of them his own. Songs like 'Run and Hide', 'Tricks of the Trade', 'I Already Miss You' would be the pride of established singer-songwriters.

Add some great guitar playing and a fantastic, unusual voice and you've got everything. He's the sort of lad who's so talented you look for flaws – which you can't find – and then you hope you won't like him.

Well, curses, he's also a lovely lad, by the look of it, polite, thankful for the applause and, well, just amazingly good.

Hold on. The phone's ringing...

"No, sorry Simon, I don't know where he lives, Kent somewhere. You'll have to call his dad. No, look it up yourself. This is real talent, not the packaged kind – and he'll be playing Carnegie Hall this time next year."

Top of the bill was graceful old Wizz Jones, who also played some wonderful stuff, his own guitar playing riveting and better than ever. 'Black Dog' ("I saw the writer of the song for the first time the other day and forgot to ask him what it was about") was a cracker, and the riff from 'Weeping Willow' is one of my all-time favourites.

As promised, Wizz played a number associated with "dear old Bert Jansch" – who died in October – the Jackson C. Frank beauty 'Blues Run the Game'.

Wizz said it was "a privilege to play at such a venue and I wish Carl Picton all the best in setting this up in SE London".

Carl and his band, the Carl Picton Cartel, were the middle men and woman – Nicola Henderson's lovely, haunting voice – on an unforgettable first night.

Carl's own cracking songs – notably 'April Rain', 'Samuel Beckett' and the one about the needle and the black thread – added to a formidable feast of acoustic delight.

Wizz will surely get round that this is the live music place to be at the end of every month.

ORNC plays its part in Oscars win

ON LOCATION: cast and crew filming inside the Painted Hall

MERYL STREEP won the Oscar for best actress at the 2012 Academy Awards for her portrayal of Margaret Thatcher in The Iron Lady. Pivotal scenes in the movie were shot at the Painted

Hall at the Old Royal Naval College. Simon Elliot, production designer, said: "The Painted Hall is a magnificent space and we went there because it has that operatic feel."

Take a bow

The Greenwich Playhouse goes out with a bang, in the Duchess of Malfi

THE Greenwich Playhouse is staging its final production, after landlords, Beds and Bars, declined to renew its lease.

The Duchess of Malfi marks the end of an era for the theatre above Belushi's bar on Greenwich Station Forecourt.

For 20 years, husband and wife team, Bruce Jamieson and Alice de Sousa have run their production company, Galleon Theatre from the premises. And they are still on the lookout for a new base.

Alice told Scene: "Last night I received the most amazing email from a lady who's been coming to the theatre for years - and I just burst into tears. The messages we are getting from people from all over the world are really something. But as yet we have still to find a new place."

The Playhouse is going out on a high, with a production of the Malfi, which runs until March 18.

Alice, who plays the title role, added: "Malfi's getting some great reviews, some saying it's better than the RSC's [Royal Shakespeare Company] version. It's very powerful, it's got everything in it - love, death, but also a lot of comedy."

The original was written by John Webster in 1613, a swashbuckling tale of corruption, cruelty and revenge in the Court of Malfi.

"Webster's language is beautiful, and there is a huge cast," Alice said. "It has the usual Galleon flavour - the culmination of all the years of experience of those involved."

"It's a real jewel, we had a fantastic first week, and we are all very proud of it. I think it will be difficult to beat."

And Alice reckons it's a fitting play to go out on.

"It's full of fire, it's full of passion, it celebrates life, but it also holds up a mirror to things which are quite often unfair.

"It reflects the whole gamut of human emotions - love, loss, longing, laughter. It's a great one, because it releases all that."

"On the final night I think I will be led by the people that are there, it will obviously be very poignant. We'll probably end up at the Novotel drinking champagne and being very loud...in a theatrical way, of course!"

GET A GONG: RICKY (right) and actor pal in Julius Caesar

Dukes up for award

IT was lights, camera, action for Greenwich's Ricky Dukes when he was named best artistic director at a prestigious awards ceremony.

He hit centre stage at the Fringe Report awards bash for his work with the Lazarus Theatre Company in south London.

His stock-in-trade is giving classic stories a moden twist. He said: "Theatre has always been incredibly inspirational to me, telling stories through a live medium is a fantastic opportunity and a thrilling experience."

"To be a creative leader of a company of talented, enthusiastic actors breaking down barriers and seeing plays in a new light is an incredible reward."

Ricky's ambitious productions include a depiction of Julius Caesar (without Caesar!) and a production of King Lear as a Queen. The director added: "Stories are made to be retold, giving a classic play a new setting, identity or by addressing a particular plot or focus on one character we find exciting, intricate and possibly overlooked details. To have the opportunity to give new life to existing plays offers an audience a tremendous insight and access to plays they would never normally see."

The Women of Troy is on at the Blue Elephant Theatre, Camberwell from March 20 - April 14.

Royal Greenwich Council's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Edition 277

How the lettings policy works

Housing applicants are placed within 'Bands' according to the Royal Borough of Greenwich's policy for letting homes. Your band information is on the letter that the Council sent you when you registered, or when your circumstances changed. Property adverts say which band can apply and any other criteria. When all the bids are received, the property is then offered to: For properties advertised for band A and band B - the applicant who has had this priority status for the longest time. For properties advertised for band C applicants - the applicant who has been registered on the Council's list for the longest time.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application online at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Royal Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website: www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free in either your neighbourhood housing office, library or UK Online centre.

Apply in one of two ways

- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Royal Borough of Greenwich's website

The next edition of GreenwichHomes will be available on Wednesday 14 March 2012 at midday and will include any Housing Association properties when available. Closing date for all applications for this issue is midnight on Sunday 11 March 2012.

GreenwichHomes

Royal Greenwich Council's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Important Notice

Changes to the rents and tenancies of some advertised housing association properties.

Affordable Housing

Currently the rent level for the properties you see advertised in Greenwich Homes is significantly lower than full market rents in private sector housing.

From now you will now be seeing some housing association properties advertised for higher rents, up to eighty percent of the market rent. These rents will also include the service charge that you will need to pay for the property. We will use the phrase Affordable Housing on the adverts to help you identify these properties.

Please note the Council will continue to advertise all the homes it owns at the standard rent level.

You can bid for properties advertised as Affordable Housing in exactly the same way as for other advertised properties. If you are successful the housing association may want to check you have enough income to pay the higher rent, whether you are working or on benefits. If you are currently a housing association tenant the rent you pay on your present home will not be affected by this change.

Fixed term tenancies

You will also notice that the tenancies for Affordable Housing and some other housing association properties may now be for a shorter period than the present lifetime tenancies offered by housing associations. The phrase Fixed term tenancy will be used in the adverts to identify these properties. The tenancy details will be explained to you if you are successful when you view the property.

Please think about these changes when bidding for an Affordable housing property and make sure you can afford the home that you choose.

This is what happened to the homes advertised in issue 274

"It's fantastic for the royal borough, especially in Olympic year. I've had a lot of pressure to make sure we get through. The girls have done really well in the last couple of years and have managed to win silver, so for the boys to go to Lord's will be fantastic."

Captain Hurley, said: "I normally go in at number six to try and get an important score. I'm excited to play at Lord's for the first time and hopefully we'll win. I think we have a good enough team." In the quarter finals, Greenwich have been drawn against Islington at Lord's on Sunday, March 11, as the competition moves to a straight knock-out phase.

The full draw is: Bexley v Harrow; Havering v Hillingdon; Islington v Greenwich; Sutton vs Redbridge. The winners of the boys' and girls' competitions will be crowned at Lord's. The girls' qualifiers took place at Harrow this weekend (March 3-4).

Now part of the government's nationwide School Games programme and supported by Sport England National Lottery funding, the London Youth Games has expanded to feature more schools events

Skipper Lord's it!

Greenwich cricketers

make finals

LORD'S HERE WE COME.
skipper Jack Hurley (under the mascot's left arm) with his players Dinesh Hirani, Nick Smith, Jonty Logan, Jamie Angel, Joey Clifton, Matt Walker and Leon Ursell

GREENWICH boys' cricket team will play at Lord's after winning through the qualifying rounds of the Balfour Beatty London Youth Games indoor competition at Harrow Leisure Centre on February 25-26.

The team successfully qualified from their group, winning all their matches against Bromley, Brent and Barnet.

At one stage they were in danger of elimination as Brent had them at 15-5 in a match they needed to win, but captain Jack Hurley came in at No. 6 and scored 58 to set a respectable target, which Brent couldn't overcome.

Greenwich team manager Len Sales told GT: "The captain put himself at six and I couldn't think of anyone better who would finish the game off for us. He's sensible and knows how to nudge the ball around."
